MERIDIAN AUDIO'S SOOLOOS SYSTEM GETS MAJOR REWORKING

Since acquiring the American Sooloos company a year ago Huntingdon-based Meridian Audio has been further developing Sooloos' luxurious music management system. The latest Meridian Sooloos 'version 2.0' boasts several enhancements to its operating interface, its acquisition and organisation of metadata, along with upgrades in the system's capabilities. For example, it now offers local streaming so that any Mac, PC or Linux web browser can access and control the system. Furthermore any computer (with speakers attached) controlling the system can act as a zone to play the music stored in the Sooloos located in another room.

The 2.0 system also features remote streaming. You can access the home Meridian Sooloos system through a web browser from anywhere with a high-speed connection, and stream music to your computer. At the office, in a hotel, at a friend's home, or on holiday, your music collection is always available via the web.

Supporting the import of FLAC, WAV, MP3, AAC, and Apple Lossless files at any word length and sample rate up to 24-bit/96kHz, Meridian Sooloos stores music in full-quality, lossless form while simultaneously generating MP3s of the files for portable use – so you don't have to import and maintain two music libraries.
