...with Meridian Sooloos

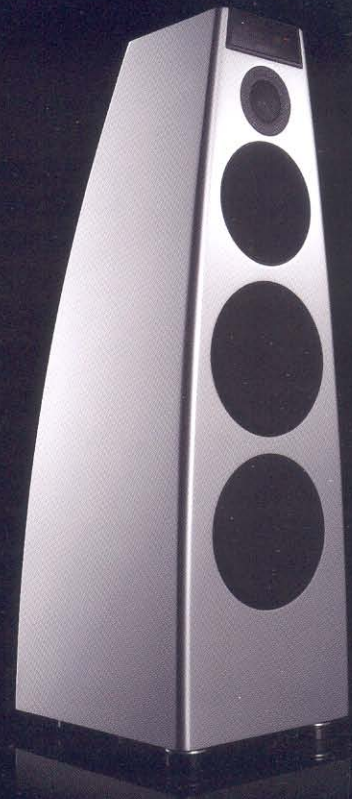

Meridian Sooloos embodies everything you value about music, instantly accessed via the world's most advanced touch-screen interface. The interface makes your collection easily manageable with intuitive simplicity and exceptional speed. It's designed with a deep understanding of music and delivers an experience that reflects the unique value your music library holds for you.

From any room in your home, on portable devices, computers, or even through the web away from home, Meridian Sooloos lets you access, browse and play your library anywhere.

Meridian Sooloos is a system. Select just the components you need to give you centralised storage, browsing, and playback, in pristine lossless quality, of your digital library wherever needed, without limit.

The components discover one another automatically for simple reliability and provide effortless backup for security. And Meridian Sooloos will grow with you. When your needs change or there are new options in the ever-developing world of digital media, expansion is simply a matter of adding another component to your network.

Meridian Sooloos is the next step in Meridian's 30 year tradition of delivering state-of-art audio and home entertainment systems: pristine audio quality, an incredible user interface, and a modular and expandable system designed to suit your needs.
